

LPL Financial Elects Allison Mnookin as New Independent Director

June 4, 2018

CHARLOTTE, N.C., June 04, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- LPL Financial Holdings Inc. (NASDAQ:LPLA) today announced that Allison H. Mnookin has been elected to the company's board of directors.

Mnookin joins LPL's board with two decades of experience as a technology executive for high-growth business software companies. She most recently served as CEO of QuickBase Inc., a provider of online application software which was formerly a division of Intuit, Inc. Prior to leading QuickBase, she held several positions at Intuit, including general manager in Intuit's small business division where she was responsible for leading a portfolio of Intuit's business products, including QuickBooks. She was also instrumental in the early formation and growth of Quicken Loans.

Prior to joining Intuit, she held several sales and marketing positions with Oracle Corporation. Mnookin is currently a senior lecturer of business administration in the technology and operations management unit at the Harvard Business School and serves as a director of QuickBase.

"I am excited to welcome Allison as a director," said James Putnam, chair of the Board. "She brings to the board an entrepreneurial mindset and a strong understanding of how businesses have transformed their technology from a utility to a strategic asset."

"It is an honor to be elected," said Mnookin. "I look forward to working with the board and management as LPL evolves the digital experience of its advisors and their clients."
